Searching For Secrets

Every great city has its secrets, you just have to know where to search for them…Scratch the surface of any city, and you'll discover a secret history packed with fascinating stories, remarkable characters, and surprising twists. And more often than not, it's right there in plain sight. If we only knew where to look. In SEARCHING FOR SECRETS, a cast of local guides, bloggers and historians, takes us on an extraordinary journey around some of the world's most iconic cities…from the eerie catacombs of Paris, to the hustle and bustle of London's west end. From New York's iconic Statue of Liberty, to the graffiti covered remains of the Berlin Wall. With the help of intriguing clues and objects, we journey back in time to reveal the secret history of the cities we know and love, and shine new light on the exciting, and often surprising stories that helped shape them.

Baboons: Rules of the Troop

Life on Earth is complex and diverse. Through the course of evolution, species have emerged that are adapted to constantly changing environments. There are few more resilient than the baboon. Over the course of the film we follow four families – the Beach, Mountain, River and Desert Troops and their dramatic stories of survival on the African continent. From the highlands of Ethiopia, down rivers in Botswana, through deserts to the southernmost beaches of Africa, the film beautifully depicts the adaptations baboons have made to survive under a myriad of harsh conditions.

Wonders of the Ocean

The Pacific Ocean encompasses an extreme range of environments nature has to offer, from deep ocean trenches to undersea volcanoes and from tropical lagoons to wave-tossed sub-Antarctic waters. The most remarkable thing about the Pacific is that life has managed to gain a foothold in all these environments. Unique and often bizarre creatures have adapted below and above the waves to make the most of every situation. This series showcases the many incredible creatures that have evolved to call the Pacific home.

See What You Made Me Do

SEE WHAT YOU MADE ME DO is a powerful look at one of the biggest emergencies facing society. Most domestic abuse victims will never report it, and their abusers will never be called to account. This series shines a light into the kitchens, bedrooms and living rooms where abuse is destroying lives. Host Jess Hill talks to survivors, perpetrators and the people working with them to curb their behaviours. Resolutely solution focused, Jess explores radical innovations which could make a seismic difference to curbing this crisis in our homes.

Murdered by a Mob

This documentary examines the murder of Iranian refugee Bijan Ebrahimi, beaten to death and his body set alight after neighbours erroneously assumed that he was a paedophile. With two police officers jailed for failing to protect him and two dismissed from the force, this case has sparked an investigation into racial bias in the police, and institutional racism in the local council. This film explores what allowed this barbaric, medieval-like act to happen in the 21st century.
