Spring 2022

Thank you

At the core of what we do is provide support. From financial investment, sharing market intelligence, and brokering like-minded international partnerships, our primary goal is enabling creative ambitions to be realized. This spring, we are offering stories from some of the best storytellers in the world. From blue chip natural history special 'The Ocean's Greatest Feast,' to the fascinating - yet simultaneously horrifying - crime documentary 'Evil By Design: Surviving Nygård,' to the return of kids & family scripted hit 'Detention Adventure,' we pride ourselves on serving up entertainment for all ages. So thank you to all of our global partners. Your trust and support allows us to do what we do!

This year we would also like to say a special thank you to the Government of Canada for their support through the Creative Export Canada program.

Evil By Design: Surviving Nygård

EVIL BY DESIGN: SURVIVING NYGÅRD searches for the truth behind allegations of Peter Nygård's 40-year reign of terror, featuring first-hand accounts from the survivors who tell harrowing stories of abuse, some of whom are speaking out for the first time. Based on the hugely popular audio podcast, Evil By Design, the series examines the culture that kept allegations of Nygård's predatory behavior hidden, while spotlighting the whistle-blowers who seek to bring him to justice. Featuring interviews from survivors, former employees, journalists, legal experts, law enforcement, and family members, the series includes never-before-seen photos and footage.

Roswell Rediscovered: 75th Anniversary

July 2022 marks the 75th anniversary of America's most infamous UFO incident, the alleged crash of an extra-terrestrial craft in Roswell, New Mexico. Officially recorded by the Roswell Army Air Force base, and despite an eye-popping headline in the local newspaper that declared the local military had captured a flying saucer, the story sank almost without trace - dismissed amid confusion with a crashed weather balloon. With witness testimonies unseen for decades, incredible alternative theories, and concrete scientific facts, ROSWELL REDISCOVERED goes further than ever before to seek the truth.

The Ocean's Greatest Feast

At the start of every winter, the coast of South Africa sees billions of little fish converge in the biggest biomass migration on the planet. It's the annual sardine run – a literal force of nature that feeds an entire coastline. The sardines ride a cold current through a gauntlet of predators, against all odds of survival - but the purpose of the journey remains a mystery. They race past a hungry seal colony, endure an aerial assault by gannets and face hungry sharks. When dolphins show up, the feast kicks into even higher gear, before orcas arrive with a final surprise. Watch this yearly wild run in THE OCEAN'S GREATEST FEAST. Narrated by Graham McTavish.

How the Wild Things Sleep

Everybody does it differently – but everybody does it: enormous elephants do it for only two hours a day, while tiny bees snooze up to 10 hours daily. Some birds spend 300 days a year up in the air and sleep on the wing. HOW THE WILD THINGS SLEEP explores some of the most extreme sleepers on Earth, as scientists investigate and dig deeper into understanding this incredibly important part of life. How do animals deal with sleep deprivation or the danger of being unconscious while predators roam? These are some of the baffling questions tackled in HOW THE WILD THINGS SLEEP.

Ancient Earth: Dinosaurs of the Frozen Continent

Deep under Antarctica's blanket of ice lies traces of a lost world of Dinosaurs and pre-historic creatures. Great forests once covered the now frozen Antarctic continent; gargantuan Titanosaurs roamed its valleys, and proto-mammals darted through the undergrowth. It was also home to the largest carnivore of its day, the Cryolophosaurus – Antarctica's T-Rex. This two-part series follows paleontologists on a journey of exploration to uncover fossil evidence of these ancient animals and plants that once thrived here. They quest to unravel the mysteries of how these creatures survived in a land located in the polar circle, where it is dark for four months a year.
